

Study of Feedback for Teachers Based on Classroom Videos
Initial Offeror Question and Response
11/18/16

Q1. Our organization builds district capacity to prepare coaches to provide feedback to teachers. We do not provide direct support/coaching to teachers. We would like to know if we are still eligible to submit a response. Are we eligible to be included to train a district's coaches in our model to provide feedback and coaching through video observation?

A: A provider who typically trains district staff is eligible to be the provider for the study. However, the provider will need to recruit and hire coaches from outside of the study districts in order to identify qualified coaches within the study timeline. The study districts will not be identified early enough for the provider to select and train district staff as coaches for the study.
