Families and caregivers, you play an important role in your child's language learning. Children can strengthen their language every day by asking and answering questions about a topic or an informational text. In this activity you will ask your child to talk about what they read, hear, or know about a topic or an informational text.

Keep in mind:

- You and your child can use your home language or English, whichever is strongest for you.
- Asking and answering questions in your home language will also help your child with English.
- Enjoy this time with your child. Learning together is fun!

Why ask and answer questions about a topic or informational text?

Asking and answering questions about a topic or informational text allows children to strengthen their language.

Let’s get started!

Follow the steps below. See the back for informational text ideas and additional language supports.

Step 1: Share or read an informational text with your child, such as animals, food, or something they're learning about or are interested in.

Step 2: Ask questions before, during, and after reading the informational text.

- Help your child “stretch their language.” If your child answers your question with one word, ask them to add more to their answer. You can model this for them.
- Ask surface- and deeper-level questions. Surface-level questions help your child recall what they read in the text. Example: What was the text about? Deeper-level questions help your child to think more about the text and put ideas together. Example: What is most interesting about this text? Why?

Step 3: Encourage your child to draw or write about the topic.

Language Challenge:

Children can strengthen their language every day by asking and answering questions about a topic or an informational text. Now that your child has answered questions, encourage them to ask questions for you to answer about a topic or an informational text. Children can create their own questions to ask you or they can use some of the questions in the table above. Asking questions allows children to stretch their language on a daily basis.
